The Planai hiking buses

The quickest way from A to B!

In the Schladming-Dachstein region hundreds of kilometres of signposted trails amid lofty peaks, mountain lakes and alpine huts await you. The Planai-Hochwurzen-Bahnen company's local buses are the easiest way of discovering the region's many delights. As well as regular local services, the company operates a total of six hiking bus lines to the starting and end points of popular hikes and tours. Combi tickets are also available which entitle the holder to use both cable cars and hiking buses. For cross-mountain hikes it is necessary to reserve the return bus journey. This can be done at the cable car box office or on the journey by hiking bus to the starting point.

For current schedules and prices visit www.planaibus.at

Use of hiking buses, city buses and local Schladming buses and one cable car trip per day* are included in the Schladming-Dachstein Summer Card.

*Exception Dachstein: Only from two overnight stays and one cable car ascent and descent per week.

Our hiking tips are no substitute for tour planning! Please find out in advance about weather conditions, conditional requirements and the equipment needed!

Untertal – Riesach waterfall

The Riesach waterfall in the Untertal valley can be easily reached with the hiking bus. There are several stops en route through the valley where hikers can board or alight. At the destination there are many hiking options.

“Durch die Höll” alpine trail

This alpine trail leads past the Riesach waterfall to Lake Riesachsee. The highlight is a 50-metre-long suspension bridge. This route is not suitable for infants and dogs! An alternative route is the ascent via the forest road.

Hike to the Gollinghütte

From the Riesach waterfall guesthouse the trail leads into the valley to the material cable car at the Gollinghütte. From here follow the hiking trail as it winds up to the Gollinghütte.

Obertal – Eschachalm

From Schladming the bus travels through Rohrmoos into the Obertal valley and to the final stop Eschachalm. Particularly popular are the hikes to Lake Duisitzkarsee and the Keinprechthütte.

Lake Duisitzkarsee hike

This hike leads from the Eschachalm via a hiking trail through a high forest to Lake Duisitzkarsee. There is also an alternative forest trail.

Keinprechthütte hike

The approach to the Keinprechthütte is via a gently ascending trail to the Neualm and on to the Keinprechthütte.

Obertal – Preuneggtal valley mountain crossings

From the Eschachalm in the Obertal valley to Lake Duisitzkarsee the trail leads past the Giglach lakes to the Ursprungalm in the Preuneggtal.

Or: From the Hopfriesen stop a mountain trail leads via the Giglach lakes to the Ursprungalm. (For experienced hikers!)

Preuneggtaal-Ursprungalm

From Schladming the hiking bus travels via Rohrmoos into the Preuneggtaal valley and on to the Ursprungalm. Here there are myriad opportunities to explore this idyllic valley. A small circular trail is ideal for a stroll and the Giglach lakes are reached via a hiking trail. For experienced walkers there is an opportunity to cross the mountain into the next valley.

Giglachsee hike

From the Ursprungalm a generally flat alpine trail with several steeper sections leads to the beautifully situated Giglach lakes. The approximately 30-minute circuit of the lower Giglach lake is well worth experiencing.

Preuneggtaal – Obertal mountain crossing

For experienced hikers the route from the Ursprungalm via the Giglach lake to Lake Duisitzkarsee and on to the Eschachalm is highly recommended. The return trip can be made with the Obertal-Eschachalm bus.

By bike & hiking bus to the Reiteralm

With this bus you can easily travel with or without a bike from Schladming via the Hochwurzen summit cable car valley station to the Reiteralm Preunegg Jet. The bike trailer can accommodate 12 bikes, allowing cyclists to switch easily between Schladming and the Reiteralm trails.

Tip: An abundance of hikes on the Reiteralm!

Seewigtal – Steir. Bodensee

The Seewigtal valley and therefore the Styrian Bodensee are also easily reached with the hiking bus. This line runs from Schladming via „Haus im Ennstal“ valley to the car park at Styrian Lake Constance, from where there are several hiking options. The classic is the barrier-free 20-minute trail to Styrian Bodensee.

Styrian Bodensee – Lake Hüttensee (Hans Wödl Hütte) hike

This hike initially leads via a simple alpine road to the Styrian Bodensee, around half of which the trail leads. From there it continues uphill to the waterfall and on to Lake Hüttensee.

Three lakes tour extension: From Lake Hüttensee the trail leads behind the Hans Wödl Hütte via grass-covered terraces up to Lake Obersee.

Cross-mountain hike: Lake Hüttensee – Hauser Kaibling

For experienced hikers with plenty of stamina there is the option of walking from Lake Hüttensee towards HÖchststein to the turquoise-coloured Lake Moaralmsee. From there the trail continues on the Hauser Kaibling. Cable cars whisk you in comfort into the valley to the bus stop.

Forstautal – Vögeialm

The excursion bus from Schladming to the Vögeialm in the Forstautal Valley is ideal for cross-mountain hikes to the Ursprungalm and the Giglach lakes. There is also a wide variety of hikes through the wonderful alpine flora, which features numerous small streams.

Vögeialm – Lake Oberhüttensee hike

From the Vögeialm a fairly steep road leads to the picturesque Lake Oberhüttensee. There is also an alpine trail, which leads via meadows along the stream and through the forest to the lake.

Lake Oberhüttensee – Ursprungalm crossings

There are several options for reaching the Ursprungalm from the Vögeialm. However, these involve traversing alpine terrain and require a head for heights and surefootedness. The simplest option leads via Lake Oberhüttensee to the Akar wind gap, descending to the Ursprungalm past the Giglach lakes.

The perfect vista

The Dachstein panorama gondola.

The ascent up the Dachstein alone aboard the panorama gondola is a memorable experience. In just six minutes you ascend 1,000 metres in a gondola built mainly of glass from which the Dachstein Massif seems close enough to touch. A balcony on the rooftop of a gondola provides that authentic “convertible” feeling.

 You must reserve your ascent and descent in the Dachstein gondola (including with a Sommercard) at www.derdachstein.at/reservierung

Please note that you cannot use the Dachstein gondola without reservation.

Please use the Dachstein Glacier scheduled bus, which shuttles at regular intervals from Schladming to the Dachstein glacier lift valley station.

Dachstein Ice Palace

A journey to the interior of the glacier

The Dachstein Ice Palace entices visitors deep into the interior of the glacier on a very special journey through time. Artistically carved and beautifully illuminated sculptures lead visitors from one “icy” room into the next. The “Up to the mountains” exhibition opened in 2022. Topics such as the history of cable cars in Austria and the varied flora and fauna in the mountains are represented through elaborately carved ice sculptures.

Opening times for and getting to the Ice Palace:

The Dachstein Ice Palace can only be reached on the Dachstein panorama gondola (no road)

The Ice Palace is open while the lift is in service from 8:30 a.m. to 4:15 p.m.

Suspension bridge and the Stairway to Nothingness

As spectacular as the Dachstein itself.

In 2013 the “Stairway to Nothingness”, which is in a higher location than any other suspension bridge in Austria, was unveiled. This attraction serves as a glass viewing platform. Built in exceptionally challenging circumstances on one of the most extreme building sites in the Alps, the Stairway to Nothingness offers you unique holiday experiences. Standing 400 metres above the foot of the Dachstein Massif, the dizzying downward view from the platform is not for the faint-hearted. The suspension bridge and the “Stairway to Nothingness” are directly linked to the Dachstein Ice Palace.

EXPERIENCE

MAUTERNS WILD MOMENTS

Exhilarating moments on the Wilde Berg in Mautern

DER
MAUTERN

Experience wild animals up close, have a great time in the play park or enjoy an exciting ride on the summer toboggan run – these and many more “wild moments“ await you on the Wilde Berg in Mautern. The chairlift whisks you in comfort and with a stunning view to the mountain station at an altitude of 1,100 metres. And anyone who prefers to remain at ground level can take the park bus up the mountainside. At the top a gentle, pushchair-friendly path leads through the wildlife park.

An animal world full of adventures

Around 300 wild animals such as wolves, bears, ibex, foxes, raccoons and wild cats greet guests of all ages, from kids to grandparents. And this year visitors can look forward to meeting our new residents Gipsy and King, a pair of two-year-old timber wolves from France. Together with our Arctic and grey wolves, they complete our “Wild wolf gang”.

During regular animal feeding sessions visitors gain exciting insights into the animals on the Wilde Berg, while the bird of prey show offers the opportunity to admire griffon vultures, eagles and falcons in action at close quarters. At the children’s farm creatures such as rabbits, goats, sheep and donkeys are waiting to be gently petted.

Eager for action? Then let’s head to the play park

On the way through the wildlife park yet more attractions await the visitor: In the play park you can survey your surroundings from the High Perch while the Moon Swing turns the world upside down. In the children’s play hut little adventurers can enjoy suspension bridges, a tunnel slide and much more besides. And this year visitors can also look forward to a brand-new attraction: the puzzle hunt with five tricky stations.

Wild treats for the taste buds on the Wilde Berg

With so much going on it's not just the animals who get hungry. In the Steinbockalm restaurant Styrian specialities can be enjoyed while enjoying a glorious view from the spacious terrace or in the cosy interior. The Bärenstube eatery serves sweet and savoury treats, right alongside the valley station of the two-seater chairlift, while Mizzi's Marmelöhütte offers delicious snacks to top up those energy levels.

OUR TIP: Like to celebrate your birthday in a unique location? Then the Wilde Berg in Mautern is just the right place for you. You can visit wolves, foxes and birds of prey, savour a fantastic lunch in the Steinbockalm restaurant and discover our slides, swings and much more besides, before racing down into the valley on the Meadow Glider toboggan run or a mountain go-kart!

Many routes lead into the valley

There are four different routes back into the valley: The gentle options lead through the forest along the footpath or through the air aboard the chairlift. Meanwhile, anyone of a more adventurous disposition can choose the Meadow Glider summer toboggan run or a mountain go-kart as their means of transport back into the valley.

Free admission with the Schladming-Dachstein Summer Card and Ski amadé's ALL-IN Card Green/Gold.
